Dance Vista is in its 22nd year as an award winning television series that provides a Vista into the creation and motivation of expressionary movement. The show currently revolves around an interview format that blends around and through lively dialogue guided by host, Diane Dragone.

Diane is an established and internationally renowned choreographer as well as Artistic Director of The Kennedy Dancers. She is a multi award winning host and choreographer who provides a lively counterpoint to her guests. DANCE VISTA also seeks to highlight emerging, women and minority choreographers and dancers (especially from New Jersey) who would otherwise have no access to audiences beyond their locales.

A recent National Endowment for the Arts report, Dance-makers, concludes: "The physical and financial strains of pursuing a choreographic career are severe and impede the creative process."

DANCE VISTA serves choreographers by significantly increasing their audience and serves the viewers by exposing them to original works in a format that focuses on both the dance and the artist's inspiration as described in the show's interviews. Given its proximity to NYC, the New Jersey's arts community is often overlooked. Many talented New Jersey artists do not receive the attention of which they are so worthy. DANCE VISTA addresses that need by celebrating dance in all of its forms.

DANCE VISTA IS DIRECTED BY Tom Horan, one of the most accomplished dance documenters on the east coast who has produced more than 500 commercials and 300 television shows.
